APPELLEE'S RESPONSE BRIEF

Plaintiff/Appellee, Oklahoma Department of Securities ex rel. Irving L. Faught (Department), herein responds to The Brief and Chief of the Appellant Robert William Mathews (Appellant's Brief). This appeal arises from an order entered by the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of Oklahoma (Bankruptcy Court) granting summary judgment to the Department against Defendant/Appellant Robert William Mathews (Debtor) determining that the debt at issue was non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19).

ISSUE ON APPEAL

The issue on appeal is whether the Bankruptcy Court properly excepted a debt from discharge under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19) when the violation of the securities laws for which the debt was incurred was conducted by a person other than the Debtor.

The Bankruptcy Court's legal conclusions and determinations are subject to a de novo review by this Court. In re Herd 840 F.2d 757 (10th Cir. 1988).

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Between 2001 and 2004, Marsha Schubert, individually and doing business as Schubert and Associates (Schubert), operated a "Ponzi Scheme" in which she promised that funds received from participants would be invested, but instead used the funds to pay purported profits to other participants. To support the "Ponzi Scheme", Schubert engaged in a check kite scheme that created a "float" between several bank accounts through which she could pay purported investment returns.

In October 2004, the Department sued Schubert. In November 2004, an order was entered against Schubert for violations of the Oklahoma Uniform Securities Act of 2004 (Act), Okla. Stat. tit. 71, §§ 1-101 through 1-701 (Supp. 2003), and the Oklahoma Securities Act (Predecessor Act), Okla. Stat. tit. 71, §§ 1-413, 501, 701-703 (1991 & Supp. 2003) (Logan County Order). Schubert subsequently entered guilty pleas in both federal and state criminal cases to charges in connection with the fraudulent scheme and was convicted accordingly.

In connection with the "Ponzi Scheme" and the check kite scheme, Schubert transferred approximately $87,000,000 to Debtor and Debtor transferred approximately $86,000,000 back to Schubert. As a result, Debtor received profits of at least $524,826.19. In 2005, the Department sued Debtor and others in the District Court of Oklahoma County, Case No. CJ-2005-3796, for disgorgement of the net profits they received from Schubert (Oklahoma County Petition). The Department moved for summary judgment against Debtor asserting that he was unjustly enriched at the expense of other participants in the scheme (Oklahoma County Motion for Summary Judgment). In December 2006, the District Court of Oklahoma County determined that Debtor had been unjustly enriched by Schubert's violations of the Oklahoma Securities laws and ordered Debtor to disgorge the proceeds of that fraud (Oklahoma County Judgment). The Debtor did not appeal the Oklahoma County Judgment.

After Debtor filed for protection under the bankruptcy laws, the Department brought an adversary proceeding against Debtor objecting to the discharge of the debt owed to the Department pursuant to the exceptions to discharge enumerated in 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(2) and (19). The Department brought a nearly identical adversary proceeding against Marvin and Pamela Wilcox (Debtors Wilcox). The two cases were consolidated for purposes of trial.

The Department moved for summary judgment against Debtors Wilcox and Debtor Mathews. The Department asserted that Schubert violated the securities laws of the state of Oklahoma and of the United States by her conduct of the “Ponzi Scheme”. The Department also alleged that Debtor and Debtors Wilcox violated the Oklahoma Securities laws because they materially aided Schubert’s violations by allowing their checking accounts to be used in the check kite scheme and actively referring new participants to the Ponzi scheme. Debtor and Debtors Wilcox have admitted the factual allegation made by the Department, but deny that they had the state of mind necessary to be found liable for materially aiding the fraud.

The Bankruptcy Court determined, however, that it was not necessary to consider Debtor and Debtors Wilcoxes’ level of involvement in the securities fraud to find that the debts are non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19). The Bankruptcy Court granted summary judgment in favor of the Department finding that there were sufficient undisputed facts to hold that the debts owed to the Department by Debtor and Debtors Wilcoxes are non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19). The bankruptcy court did not err in denying Appellant’s discharge under Section 523(a)(19).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The Department incorporates Appellant’s Statement of Facts from the Record on Appeal as set forth in Appellant’s Brief with the one addition set forth below. These facts are incorporated solely for purposes of determining the issue on appeal. By incorporating these facts, the Department in no way disclaims any of the facts asserted in the Department’s Motion for Summary Judgment

(Department's Motion) or clarified in the Department's Reply to Defendants' Response to Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment (Department's Reply Brief). See Designation of Record No. 6, Docket No. 15, Department's Motion; and Designation of Record No. 8, Docket No. 17, Department's Reply. The Department adds the following fact:

1.) On September 9, 2005, Schubert entered a plea of guilty in the District Court of Logan County, State of Oklahoma, to fourteen (14) counts of obtaining money by false pretenses in connection with the purported investment program (State Guilty Plea). Schubert was sentenced to 25 years in prison and ordered to pay restitution in the amount of Nine Million One Hundred Fourteen Thousand Seven Hundred Forty-Four Dollars ($9,114,744.00) (State Conviction). State of Oklahoma v. Marsha Kay Schubert, No. CF-2004-391. Marsha Schubert stated as the factual basis for her plea that she obtained money in a "Ponzi" scheme in which she promised that the funds would be invested but instead, used the funds to pay prior investors involved in the purported investment program. See Designation of Record No. 11, Docket No. 22, Corrected Response to Order, Exhibits 7 and 8.

ARGUMENT

Proposition I: The plain language of Section 523(a)(19) does not require that the violation of the securities laws be conducted by the debtor.

While the Bankruptcy Code generally favors the interests of the debtor in obtaining a “fresh start,” Congress has recognized that there are times when that interest is trumped by the competing interest in protecting the victims of fraud. Grogan v. Garner, 498 U.S. 279, 287 (1991). Section 523(a)(19) of the Bankruptcy Code establishes such an exception. Section 523(a)(19) provides, in pertinent part, for the non-dischargeability of a debt that:

(A) is for-(i) the violation of any of the Federal securities laws (as that term is defined in section 3(a)(47) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, any of the State securities laws, or any regulation or order issued under such Federal or State securities laws; or (ii) common law fraud, deceit, or manipulation in connection with the purchase or sale of any security; and (B) results from (i) any judgment, order, consent order, or decree entered in any Federal or State judicial or administrative proceeding; (ii) any settlement agreement entered into by the debtor; or (iii) any court or administrative order for damages, fine, penalty, citation, restitutionary payment, disgorgement payment, attorney fee, cost, or other payment owed by the debtor.

Courts have noted that the plain language of Section 523(a)(19) indicates that its coverage is broad. In re Civiello, 348 B.R. 459 (Bankr.N.D.Ohio 2006). The legislative history behind Section 523(a)(19) provides that the purpose of this exception to discharge is to protect investors and hold accountable those who violate securities laws. Id. at 463. The plain language of Section 523(a)(19)(A)(i) does not require that the violation of the securities laws necessarily be conducted, directly or indirectly, by the debtor.

The Debtor has focused on attempting to craft a definition for the phrase “for a violation” and suggests that the Department treats that phrase as if it means any debt arising under the securities laws. The Department disagrees that the unjust enrichment judgment against the Debtor simply arises under the securities laws. The Department maintains that the debt directly results from a violation of the securities laws. The Department's Oklahoma County Petition and Oklahoma County Motion for Summary Judgment that underlie the Oklahoma County Judgment clearly state the violations of the Oklahoma securities laws for which the Oklahoma County Judgment issued. See Designation of Record No. 11, Docket No. 22, Corrected Response to Order, Exhibits 9-10, 14-16 and 18. The Oklahoma Court of Civil Appeals recognized in its order confirming the Oklahoma County Judgment against Debtors Wilcox that the debt was for Schubert's violations of the Oklahoma securities laws. See Designation of Record No. 11, Docket No. 22, Corrected Response to Order, Exhibits 19-20. The debt owed by this Debtor arises from almost identical facts within the same fraudulent scheme.

As Debtor has pointed out, Congress, when enacting legislation, is presumed to have knowledge of how it has previously used particular terms and how those terms will affect new provisions of the law. Lorillard v. Pons, 434 U.S. 575, 581 (1978). Throughout Section 523(a), Congress refers to actions "by the debtor" where it intends to ensure that only the debtor's personal conduct can result in a debt being excepted from discharge. For instance, Congress created an exception to discharge in Section 523(a)(6) "for willful and malicious injury by the debtor"; in Section 523(a)(9) "for death or personal injury caused by the debtor's operation of a motor vehicle" while intoxicated; in Section 523(a)(12) "for malicious or reckless failure to fulfill any commitment by the debtor to a Federal depository institution's regulatory agency"; and in Section 523(a)(15) for certain domestic obligations "incurred by the debtor in the course of a divorce or separation". Even within Section 523(a)(19) Congress uses "by the debtor" to effectively distinguish between judgments entered in judicial proceedings from settlement agreements. In Section 523(a)(19)(B)(ii), a settlement agreement must be "entered into by the debtor" to trigger the exception from discharge. However, the plain language of Section 523(a)(19)(B)(i) does not require that the debt at issue result from a judgment or order against the debtor. And, Section 523(a)(19)(B)(iii) specifically provides that the debt at issue may result from a court ordered disgorgement payment owed by the debtor. As clearly stated on the face of the document itself, the Oklahoma County Judgment is a court ordered disgorgement payment owed by the Debtor.

The Logan County Order and Schubert's State Guilty Plea and Conviction satisfy the Section 523(a)(19)(A) requirement that the debt at issue be for violations of securities laws. The Oklahoma County Judgment results directly from the Logan County Order against Schubert for violations of the Oklahoma securities laws and therefore satisfies Section 523(a)(19)(B)(i). Further, the debt owed by Debtor is for court ordered disgorgement of proceeds of the securities violations committed by Schubert and therefore satisfies Section 523(a)(19)(B)(iii).

Proposition II: Non-violators who receive the proceeds of illegal conduct should be required to disgorge the ill-gotten gains the same as the violator.

It is an established principle in securities laws that disgorgement of ill-gotten gains of a securities fraud can be extended to a non-violator to effect full relief under the securities laws. SEC v. Colello, 139 F.3d 674 (1998); SEC v. Egan, 856 F.Supp 451 (N.D. Ill. 1993); SEC v. Cherif, 933 F.2d 403, 414 n. 11 (7th Cir. 1991). In SEC v. Egan, the court found no meaningful difference between wrongdoers and a third party for purposes of disgorgement: “the deterrence purpose is not dependent on that status—for it is just as important to discourage illegal conduct by taking the proceeds of that illegality from those who have given no current value for the ill-gotten gains that have been turned over to them (even though they themselves have not directly engaged in the illegal activity).” Egan at 401.

If the money had remained with the violator and it was the violator that filed for bankruptcy, any debt in connection with that violation would clearly be non-dischargeable. However, violators, in an attempt to hide assets or reward someone who aids their scheme, often transfer their ill-gotten gains to a family member, a favored friend or a close business associate. Allowing that person to keep the ill-gotten gains would in essence benefit the violator.

Proposition III: The culpability of the Debtor is not material to the issue before the Court.

Debtor points to only one question of fact that he claims is still at issue thereby making summary judgment inappropriate. Debtor claims that there is an unresolved question of fact as to whether he personally violated any securities laws. The Department maintains that Debtor violated Oklahoma's securities laws, but acknowledges that as of yet, no finding has been made that he did. However, that question of fact is not material to a determination of the question of law as decided by the Bankruptcy Court. The Bankruptcy Court determined that Schubert's securities law violation triggered the exception, that the Oklahoma County Judgment against Debtor was for Schubert's violation of the securities laws, and that in "equity and good conscience", Debtor should not be allowed to retain the ill gotten funds.

Proposition IV: The Bankruptcy Court did not err in considering the findings of the Oklahoma Court of Civil Appeals.

Debtor has not filed an appeal so his Oklahoma County Judgment is final and the factual and legal conclusions stated in the Oklahoma County Judgment are binding upon him. Obviously the factual and legal conclusions in the opinion of the Oklahoma Court of Civil Appeals is not binding on this Court with respect to Debtor, however, it can be instructive.

There are sufficient facts in the Record On Appeal for this Court to conclude that the Oklahoma County Judgment is for Schubert's violation of the securities laws. See Designation of Record No. 11, Docket No. 22, Corrected

Response to Order. Those documents clearly show that but for Schubert's violations of the securities laws, the Oklahoma County Judgment would not have issued. Further, a review of the case law concerning judgments issued in securities fraud cases for recovery of funds even as against non-violators shows that while the Supreme Court of Oklahoma has not yet ruled on the issues appealed, the order of the Oklahoma Court of Civil Appeals is consistent with other courts across the nation that have considered the issue. See SEC v. Colello 139 F.3d 674 (1998); SEC v. Egan; SEC v. Cherif; Wing ex rel. 4NExchange, L.L.C. v. Yager, 2003 WL 23354487 (D. Utah 2003); Chosnek v. Rolley, 688 N.E.2d 202 (Ind. App. 1997); Scholes v. Ames, 850 F. Supp. 707 (N.D. Ill. 1994); Merrill v. Abbott (In re Independent Clearing House Co.), 77 B.R. 843 (D. Utah 1987); and Sender v. Buchanan (In re Hedged-Investments Associates, Inc), 84 F.3d 1286 (10th Cir. 1996).

CONCLUSION

The Department respectfully requests that this Court find that the debt owed by Debtor to the Department is non-dischargeable under 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19).
